Closing Date: 11th March 2018

LiveWell Dorset are looking for a storyteller with a love of science and evidence – a Data Scientist. You’ll be someone who thrives in a team-based and intelligence-driven environment. You will be able to look at raw data and see engaging visualisation opportunities – seeing a compelling story, where other people might just see numbers and statistics. You will be an enthusiastic communicator with a science or mathematical background, our storyteller will not be daunted by complexity, because the domain of population health and the environment in which we work is complex.

We are an organisation with a mandate to protect and improve our population’s health across Bournemouth, Dorset and Poole. We work in partnership with the Borough of Poole, Bournemouth Borough Council, Dorset County Council, the Dorset Clinical Commissioning Group, and six district councils and numerous other organisations. Our main office is in Dorchester, hosted by the Dorset County Council, but you will be expected to travel across our region, as required.

You can work with colleagues to (1) improve our understanding of the questions being asked, (2) ensure that our data analytics are providing a better understanding of behaviour change, with well targeted intelligence to the service and (3) lead the crafting of our key stories. Your expertise will support a wide range of public health activities including our lead role in ‘prevention at scale’ within the Sustainability and Transformation Plan, strategic commissioning of services and the monitoring of population health outcomes. You will have a flexible, pragmatic approach and excellent team-working skills that allow you to build and maintain effective working relationships with all stakeholders.

For enquiries about this post, please contact Chris Skelly, Service Manager on 01305 225885.

This post requires you to have access to sensitive information and will be subject to a Basic Criminal Records Check.

This post has a significant travel requirement and you are contractually required to have a vehicle (or transport deemed to be suitable by the County Council) available for use as required.
