Commercial Analyst

London, UK

Job Reference: C-SA030
Location: London, Canary Wharf
Skillset: Commercial Management
Salary: Competitive
Closing Date: 28 September 2016

High Speed 2 (HS2) will be the UK’s new high speed rail network. As well as increasing capacity, the new scheme will shorten journey times between Britain’s major population centres, boost the economy and create thousands of jobs.

Once the full network is operational, HS2 is forecast to carry around 100 million passengers each year. Decisions about the commercial design, operation and regulation of HS2 will have significant and long-lasting implications for Britain’s economy. It is imperative that these decisions are informed by detailed analysis of the costs, revenues and risks involved.

The post holder will be an exceptional analyst and problem-solver who will be responsible for ensuring that decisions are evidence-led.

About the role:

- Developing and executing problem solving methods to solve analytical challenges
- Preparing written materials suitable for board-level approval
- Presenting conclusions and recommendations to a wide range of stakeholders
- Constructing and managing excel-based analytical tools
- Maintaining and updating models and analytical frameworks including management of quality assurance and version control
- Developing effective working relationships to ensure maximum value attained from analysis

About You:

- Highly numerate with strong analytical skills
- Excellent problem solving skills and high capacity for independent thinking
- Proficient user of Excel and confident to manage large and complex datasets
- Exceptional written and oral communication skills
- Proven team-worker, committed to shared goals
- Experience of challenging the status-quo and overcoming resistance
- Knowledge of the roles of public and private sector finance in government
About Us:
