TENURE-TRACK POSITION IN MATHEMATICS/STATISTICS ANNOUNCEMENT

Position: Assistant Professor – Statistics/Data Science/Computational Mathematics – Full-Time Tenure-Track, beginning Fall 2019

Department: Mathematics

Description:

The Department of Mathematics invites outstanding applicants for a full-time, tenure-track, Assistant Professor position to begin in Fall 2019. Primary responsibilities include: teaching courses in statistics and data science or pure and applied mathematics (depending on the field of expertise), conducting an active research agenda applied in a fundamental way to solve real world problems. Candidates are also expected to contribute in meaningful ways to service responsibilities at the department, college and university levels.

Candidates should hold a Ph.D. in Statistics, Mathematics, or a related discipline. Successful candidates are expected to develop and maintain an active, highly visible, extramurally funded research program with outstanding scholarship and to demonstrate excellence in teaching and mentoring both graduate and undergraduate students. Research area is open, but preference will be given to applicants who will contribute significantly to our university’s existing interdisciplinary research, as important opportunities and partnerships exist with area industry, within the College of Science and Mathematics, and throughout the University and its two medical schools.

The Department of Mathematics currently has 300 undergraduates and 20 graduate students, and offers B.A., B.S. and M.A. degrees; as well as minors in Statistics & Operations Research and Applied Mathematics. There are 23 full-time, tenure-track faculty, many doing research in pure and applied mathematics, statistics, mathematics education, and interdisciplinary work with colleagues from other departments and colleges.

Candidates must be legally authorized to work in the US.

Starting Date: September 1, 2019

Salary: Competitive.
