Lead Research Analyst Position # P100017502 (100% Time)
Department of Public Health Sciences

Position Summary:
Under the direction of Faculty Biostatistician, the Lead Research Analyst will provide statistical support for various research projects. He/she will be responsible for planning, implementing, and analyzing data for research studies and writing manuscripts for publication.

Principle Duties/Functions:
- Planning, implementing, and analyzing data
- Updating the faculty biostatistician on a weekly basis
- Preparing results for progress reports and presentations
- Preparing results for peer-reviewed publications and being a co-author on peer reviewed manuscripts
- Manipulating large datasets with a statistical software
- Reviewing database items and monitoring quality control assurance
- Presenting results of statistical analyses to study investigators
- Consulting with the study investigators on planning and specifying statistical analysis
- Problem solving barriers to analyses with other methodologists and statisticians
- Other duties as assigned

Minimum Requirements:
- Master’s degree
- 2 yrs of relevant work experience
- Effective communication skills (both verbal and written)
- Proficient computer skills and statistical programming (R, SAS, etc.)

Job application available at:

https://um.hodesiq.com/job_detail.asp?JobID=5328986&user_id=&ViewAll=