Postdoctoral Research Associate Positions in Data Science
The University of Texas (UTHealth) School of Public Health

Position Description:

A number of post-doctoral research fellow positions are available in the Department of Biostatistics and Data Science, UTHealth School of Public Health at Houston. Candidates will be expected to work on the research projects to develop novel methods in text/data mining, machine learning, natural language processing, artificial intelligence, recommendation systems, high-performance computing, data management systems and predictive modeling with applications to EHR, insurance claim and other health science Big Data. Applicants must have a Ph.D. in computer science, computational engineering, bioinformatics, biomedical informatics, (bio)statistics or a related field, with relevant research experience. Computational and programming skills are essential. The position is available immediately.

Salary: NIH post-doc salary scale
(Available at: http://grants.nih.gov/grants/guide/notice_files/NOT-OD-12-033.html)

Required submission materials: CV, letter of interest, three references and date of availability

Contact person: Dr. Hulin Wu, Dr. D.R. Seth Family Professor in Biostatistics & Chair, Department of Biostatistics and Data Science, and Professor of Biomedical Informatics

Physical address: 1200 Pressler Street, RAS E833, Houston, TX 77030

Email Address: hulin.wu@uth.tmc.edu

Phone Number: 713.500.9586

Fax Number: 713.500.9525