The Department of Statistics at the University of Akron invites applications for a full-time non-tenure track Assistant Professor of Instruction position commencing in fall 2019.

The primary duty of this position is to teach a variety of undergraduate statistics courses. Some involvement in departmental and/or university service is expected.

Position Qualifications: MS or PhD from an accredited university in Statistics or a related field and at least one year of successful teaching experience. Good oral and written communication skills with demonstrated excellence in teaching with the use of modern pedagogical techniques are required. Knowledge of statistical software is preferred. Involvement in research projects and/or ability to teach graduate courses are desirable.

Interested candidates should apply for this position at http://www.uakron.edu/jobs/ and submit a vita, transcripts, and a cover letter discussing your current position and teaching philosophy using job ID #11272. Candidates must arrange to have three letters of reference sent directly to sbaker@uakron.edu. The successful candidate must be a citizen of the United States or have the necessary employment authorization certification from the federal government permitting permanent employment in the United States. The University of Akron is committed to a policy of equal employment opportunity and to the principles of affirmative action in accordance with the state and federal laws. Review of applications will begin on Jan 15, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.