Data Analyst – Financial Transparency Programme

UK, Anywhere

The British Council

The British Council is the United Kingdom’s international organisation for cultural relations and educational opportunities.

The British Council is the UK’s international organisation for cultural relations and educational opportunities. We create friendly knowledge and understanding between the people of the UK and other countries. We do this by making a positive contribution to UK and the countries we work with – changing lives by creating opportunities, building connections and engendering trust.

We work in over 100 countries across the world in the fields of arts and culture, English language, education and civil society. Each year we reach over 20 million people face to face and more than 500 million people online, via broadcasts and publications.

About The Financial Transparency Programme:

Within the British Council, the global Financial Transparency project is deemed to be of the highest priority by the Chief Financial Officer and other Executive Board members, supported by the Board of Trustees. Specifically, the project needs to enable the delivery of financial data by 1st April 2018 to enable the organisation to do the following:

- continue to make informed financial and strategic decisions about its current and future operations by product, product area and geography
- demonstrate to external stakeholders that as the British Council increases in size and complexity it can justify its financial position by activity area, particularly in relation to the transparent use of grant-in-aid for eligible activities
- ensure that the statutory reporting of entities around the world continues to be consistent and compliant with local regulatory requirements.

Our Equality Commitment:

Valuing diversity is essential to the British Council’s work. We aim to abide by and promote equality legislation by following both the letter and the spirit of it to avoid unjustified discrimination, recognising discrimination as a barrier to equality of opportunity, inclusion and human rights. All staff worldwide are required to ensure their behaviour is consistent with our policies.
The opportunity:
As Data Analyst, you will work closely with programme workstream leads and the programme director to provide data analysis across our global programme. Therefore, you’ll be pivotal in determining the base case of deliverables and will provide essential analysis behind proposed change(s).

You will also assist in the development of modelling solutions. As such, the outputs of your work will be used to inform and support the decision making of senior stakeholders. This will include the Design Authority group, the Programme Board and the Executive Board.

Requirements
The key experience we are looking for is summarised in the following points:

- Track record of delivering sustainable business-focused solutions
- Extensive experience of data analysis and development in an SAP context
- Flexibility, independence and initiative to perform successfully in a rapidly changing environment
- Qualified accountant or equivalent

Further details:
For more information, please refer to the following documentation:

If you are interested in contributing to this high profile programme, and feel that you have the relevant skills, knowledge and experience, then we would really like to hear from you.

Please apply by 3rd April 2017 (23:59 UK TIME)

Based in UK: Location negotiable

The British Council is committed to a policy of equal opportunity and is keen to reflect the diversity of UK society at every level within the organisation. We welcome applications from all sections of the community. In line with the British Council’s Child Protection policy, any appointment is contingent on thorough checks. In the UK, and in other countries where appropriate systems exist, these include criminal records checks.