A brighter future made by you

We have big ambitions about how our business can help create a bright future for our world – but to make it happen we need great people who can challenge the way things are done, bring new ideas to the table, and dare to make big decisions.

The Unilever Future Leaders Programme (UFLP) is about making a big impact on business. If you want to make a difference, Unilever is the place to come: we want our future to be shaped and made by you, and the scope and scale of opportunities here is enormous. We give you fast learning with as much room as you need to progress; the platform to take your career in varied and interesting directions in a way that reflects your own personality and interests; and the responsibility to have a real say in how change takes place.

It’s challenging, make no mistake. But we’re looking to make managers of you in two to three years. You will drive your career and some of the world’s most-loved brands into the future.

Our spring programme, summer and industrial placements give you a taste of Unilever with the opportunity to be fast-tracked to our UFLP.
