The Department of Mathematics at Texas State University is seeking to hire a tenure-track Assistant Professor in Analysis, Differential Equations, or Statistics to commence employment in the fall semester of 2019.

Position Description (responsibilities/duties): The successful candidate will be expected to establish a strong commitment to high-quality research in one or more areas of specialization mentioned above. The candidate must also be dedicated to the teaching and mentoring of students at the graduate and undergraduate levels. In addition, the candidate must be actively engaged in service to the department, college, university and mathematical community. The starting salary will be commensurate with the candidate’s qualifications.

Qualifications Required: 1. An earned doctorate in Mathematics, or Statistics, or closely related fields prior to employment. 2. Evidence of or potential for research excellence in their area of research. Assessment will focus on recent publications. 3. Evidence of or potential for excellence in teaching. 4. A strong preparation in mathematics. 5. An ability to contribute to departmental missions.

Preferred: An applicant who shows potential for research collaboration with current faculty.

Application Procedure: Submit the following: cover letter, AMS cover sheet, current curriculum vitae, all undergraduate and graduate transcripts (unofficial ones are acceptable for initial screening), statement of research agenda, teaching philosophy, and three letters of recommendation. All documents must be submitted through mathjobs.org. For any application to be considered, the curriculum vitae and cover letter must also be submitted through the Texas State University website https://jobs.hr.txstate.edu/postings/22832. The selected candidate will be required to provide official transcripts from all degree-granting universities. To ensure full consideration, all materials listed above should arrive at the required locations by October 10th, 2018. However, we shall continue to accept applications until the position is filled.
