

Job Title: Statistics- Limited Term Lecturer

Job Summary

The Department of Statistics has two open positions as Limited Term Lecturer beginning in the Spring 2023. Limited Term Lecturers prepare and provide course lectures to large enrollment classes, prepare all course assessments, manage teaching assistants as assigned and are expected to use standard Purdue learning management systems and pedagogical practices.

Application Procedure

For full consideration all applications must be received through Purdue Careers Portal. In addition, interested candidates should submit a resume or CV, which includes teaching experience, and the name and email of three references. Purdue University's Department of Statistics is committed to advancing diversity in all areas of faculty effort, including scholarship, instruction, and engagement. Candidates should address at least one of these areas in a separate Diversity and Inclusion Statement, indicating their past experiences, current interests or activities, and/or future goals to promote a climate that values diversity and inclusion.

Education

All applicants must hold a master's degree in Statistics or a related field; a Ph.D. is preferred.

Experience

College teaching experience at the undergraduate level is preferred.

FLSA Status

Exempt

Benefits Eligibility

No

Job Sub Family

Temporary

Employee Class

Limited Term Lecturer

Career Stream

Temporary