Dr. Xiao Wang is Head and J.O. Berger and M.E. Bock Professor of Statistics at Purdue University. He earned his Ph.D. from the University of Michigan, and his research centers on machine learning, nonparametric statistics, and functional data analysis with particular emphasis on developing methods for high-dimensional and complex data. His work has been featured in leading statistical journals and machine learning conferences, and he is a fellow of the Institute of Mathematical Statistics (IMS) and the American Statistical Association (ASA). He currently serves as an associate editor for JASA, Technometrics, and Lifetime Data Analysis.